

UPDATE ON LOU WALTER

6/27/2020: Journal entry by Terry Walter

From Lou, Saturday afternoon:

I'm moved to Portland, it's good to be with Joey. Thank you for all your thoughts, I feel the love. Visitors here are restricted, but when I'm a little stronger, I am looking forward to getting on the phone with all my friends.

Lou has been cleared for transfer to a long-term acute care hospital in Portland Oregon. It is very close to Joe. He will be transferred by ambulance with an EMT on board because he is still medically fragile. There is only one designated visitor for Lou's entire stay at the hospital. Once he gets settled, and is feeling better, I'm sure he'll appreciate getting phone calls. When I have a confirmation that he's in the hospital, I'll post an address if you would like to drop him a line. Again, thank you for all the good thoughts and prayers for his recovery. He still has a long way to go.

Lou has been moved to.....a new room. Oh well, we'll take what we can get. He texted me at 12:30 am with the new "address". Twelve. Thirty. A.M. Later this morning they removed the wound vac from the skin graft and felt encouraged that it is healing so well. He was a bit discouraged today, and let us cheer him up. He sure is touched and encouraged by the cards & letters he receives. Thank you, everyone! No confirmation yet on a transfer to the West Side if the state, but we are praying he improves enough for a move.
